Introduction

This Community Action plan is not just for the few but for everyone. We hope you will read it, consider its content and help toward making it work by taking action wherever you are, in whatever way you can. If everyone did something positive for their community then what a difference that would make!

The Coalfields Regeneration Trust
The Coalfield Regeneration Trust’s (CRT’s) overarching priority is to develop community capacity; everything we do is about supporting coalfield communities. CRT works in the heart and soul of our coalfield communities; by investing resources, expertise and knowledge to ensure local people can fulfil their potential.

Coalfield Community Futures
This programme works with local residents and groups to develop a common sense of purpose and assist them to produce a deliverable community action plan which makes a case for the things that the community thinks are important and wishes to make happen.

Household Survey
As part of the process, a household survey was conducted. It was available in both paper and electronic format and was distributed via a variety of groups and individuals, and via social media.

The Big Blantyre Blether
On Sunday 4th November 2018 the “Big Blantyre Blether” forum was held in Blantyre Miners Welfare, 60 people participated. This event allowed local people to discuss issues raised in the survey and to apply their own experiences and expertise as people who live in the area. The information from the deliberations has been used to inform the various propositions and priorities included in this Action Plan. This event was developed in partnership with the Electoral Reform Society as part of their “Act as if you own the Place” campaign; an initiative aimed at involving citizens more in local democracy.

The Family Fun Day
The voting event, aimed at attracting a wide range of people from the community, was billed as a Family Fun Day, and attracted in total 700 people including adults and children of all ages. As well as a range of activities for children, local groups and organisations were invited to provide a display of their work, and the main purpose of the event was to get the public’s vote on the Themes and Priorities identified from the household survey and the “Big Blantyre Blether”.

Community Futures Steering Group
A steering group was formed at the beginning of the process, with a number of people volunteering their participation following the initial public meeting. This included representatives from Terminal One, Hyper Cyber Youth Project, Blantyre Soccer Academy, Blantyre Old Parish Church, Priory Bridge Residents Association, Family Learning Action Group, Blantyre Community Committee and a number of local residents.

Blantyre Community Action Plan
This Plan summarises community views and contains the following sections:

- Our Community Now
- Our Shared Vision for Blantyre
- Priority Themes and Actions
- Making the Links to Community Planning

- 509 household surveys were returned
- Representing the views of over 1500 residents
- 60 people attended the “Big Blantyre Blether”
- 700 people attended the Voting Event

Thank you to everyone who took part in helping Blantyre plan for a bright future!
ONE DAY

One day, I’d like to see friendship for all
In a community where we all stand tall.
We need the spirit of “we’re all in it together”
On the banks of the Clyde and purple heather.

On day, not far, I’d like to hear
That our community can live without fear.
We can enjoy a walk or bleather on oor streets
No need for fear of the strangers we greet.

One day, I hope we can all feel safe
As we welcome the poor, the needy, the waif
To this lovely town and its great people
Where all live together under one steeple.

One day, I hope we can taste victory
As we take our place in Blantir’s history,
And know we helped changed our town for the good
To a place where are all truly understood.

Our Community Now

Background
This profile has been produced to give an insight into the Blantyre area.

Location
Blantyre is located in a civil Parish of the same name, in South Lanarkshire, Scotland. From north to south the length of the parish is six and a quarter mile long and varies greatly in breadth, not averaging more than one mile in the whole. Blantyre comprises 4170 acres of which, excepting 200 acres of moss land and plantations, all is or was once, arable. It has boundaries consisting mainly of the River Clyde to the north and northwest forming a boundary with Glasgow, Uddingdon and Bothwell. The western boundary is largely the Rotten Calder River next to adjoining East Kilbride and Cambuslang. To the east, the Park Burn, separating Blantyre from Hamilton. The Boundary to the elevated south is the Rotten Burn.

The Local Government administrative boundary for Blantyre Ward 15 in South Lanarkshire, now covers a reduced area but this plan includes the areas which residents naturally identify as Blantyre, including: Blantyre Industrial Estate and Hamilton Technology Park, Auchentibber, Westcraigs, Whistleberry and the whole of Springwells.

Blantyre’s origins date back to the 1200’s with the construction of Blantyre Priory in Blantyre Barony, formerly habited by monks and now a listed ruin. The Civil Parish of Blantyre can be dated back from the 1700’s, evolving from the Barony. Initially a scattering of various small hamlets immersed in farming and weaving, it took until 1785 with the arrival of the Blantyre Works mills for the population to surpass 1,000 people. The arrival of coal in the 1860’s saw a rapid expansion in population, tripling in two decades as workers arrived for the opportunities in several collieries. Perhaps best known for being a former mining village, Blantyre is now a growing town and is the birthplace of famous explorer, David Livingstone. Its many miners’ rows were extensively cleared to make way for modern housing.

The town has two main thoroughfares. Main Street to the south and Glasgow Road to the north. The latter being a street which saw extensive development in the 1970’s following the removal of tenements, shops and homes. It is a legacy for many, according to the results from the household survey, which still seems to be unpopular today despite the building of modern supermarkets and the Sports Centre. The surrounding scenery however is, in many parts, exceedingly beautiful and generally well wooded. The survey results also clearly showed that there is a strong community spirit in Blantyre.

Population
The population of Blantyre is 17,195. 52.4% female and 47.6% male. There is a working age population of 10,975.

Housing
Blantyre has a wide range of housing including detached, semi-detached, terraced, flats and maisonettes. 61% are owner occupied, with 32% council/housing association tenants and 7% private let. Source: Census 2011.

There has been a number of new housing developments which include social, private and council. This has been the first time in many years that Blantyre has seen new developments and demand in still high. There are four sheltered housing complexes within the area, this type of property is also in high demand. As at January 2019 there were 2499 general needs Council owned properties and 656 properties owned by a total of 11 housing associations. It is anticipated that the number of lets available during 2019/20 is likely to be as follows: 110-140 general needs properties; 14-18 sheltered housing units and 6-10 amenity properties. During April 2018 to January 2019, a total of 87 general needs council properties were let. The sizes of the properties let were as follows: 37 x 1 bedroom; 36 x 2 bedroom; 13 x 3 bedrooms and 1 x 4+ bedrooms. As at January 2019 there were 1269 applicants looking for a house in the Blantyre area, of these: 53% were single people, 25% lone parents and 83% of these applicants require a 1 bed or 2 bed property. Last year 40 applicants were assessed as homeless or potentially homeless. The council have a legal duty to provide “settled accommodation” to these applicants. The number is expected to remain broadly the same during this year.

Health and Social Care
There is a dedicated medical centre in Blantyre which houses three GP practices and primary care services. There is also three dental practices and four pharmacists based locally. University Hospital Hairmyres serves the local population whilst Wishaw General Hospital provides maternity services for the area. There are three care facilities in Blantyre: Victoria House Care Home, Calderglen Care Home which are private nursing homes and Kirkton (based in High Blantyre) which is a Council run residential care home. There is care facility development proposed for the St. Joseph’s site which will provide 20 intermediate care units. There are also 20 houses proposed for people with long term care needs together with 20 mainstream houses. It will be a South Lanarkshire centre for excellence with accommodation for third sector providers and carer support based within the site.

Local Economy, Shops and Services
Blantyre has more than 500 shops and businesses spread across the town including Glasgow Road and Main Street. There are several industrial estates including Parkburn, Blantyre and the Technology Park.
There are a number of retail businesses across Blantyre which include supermarkets, 2 butchers, 17 beauty and hairdressers, 7 charity shops, 6 bookmakers, 13 cafes and 14 takeaways. There are also 25 garages and auto repair businesses, 2 B&Bs, 2 hotels, 10 public houses and 2 taxi firms locally as well as veterinary clinics, funeral parlours, opticians and a gym based at the sports and leisure centre.

The South Lanarkshire Crematorium is based in Sydes Brae near the Hamilton International Technology Park in High Blantyre. It opened on 5th September 2006 and serves the local and surrounding areas within South Lanarkshire. The crematorium was one of the first in the UK to use new technology which cuts mercury emissions. A total of 200 mourners can be accommodated at this site and a 140-space car park is also included, as well as a memorial garden and a book of remembrance.

Notably, there are no banks, although there is a credit union, and only one petrol station (unmanned and card payments only). Approximately 30% (108) of the businesses in the area are industrial, with only 18% (64) being retail. 4.5% (16) of the business properties in the area are empty.

Education and Childcare

There are five primary schools and one high school based in the town. St John Ogilvie High School in Hamilton also educates children from Blantyre. Three of the local primary schools have nurseries attached and there are also five private nurseries, childminders and out of school care available. Most schools offer breakfast clubs as well as a range of lunchtime and after school activities. This year a range of holiday activities are also being rolled out for Blantyre’s school age children. Kear campus supports young people access education when previously this has, for a variety of reasons, been difficult. Young people attending any of Kear’s primary and secondary schools may have a range of Additional Support Needs (ASN) that may include diagnosed medical conditions or they may simply have found it too stressful and overwhelming to make a success of mainstream education. 36% of households with residents aged 16–74 have no one with qualifications. This is above the national average of 26.8%. Source: Census 2011
